WELCOME TO REVITALIZEWA

The Washington Trust for Historic Preservation and the Department of Archaeology & Historic Preservation are delighted to welcome you back—finally—to Wenatchee for the RevitalizeWA conference. Whether you’re a Main Street professional or volunteer, a small business owner, a property owner or preservationist, or any other community builder—no doubt, your life has been altered by the last few years. It’s with great joy that we reconvene in the heart of Washington State for a forward-looking event, heavy on the celebration.

While brainstorming the tone and content for this year’s conference, one phrase really stuck out to us: We’re in this for the long haul. We hope that, over the next few days, you’ll engage with your fellow attendees in asking big questions, such as:

- What does sustainable growth look like for our historic neighborhoods?
- How do community organizations meet the growing demand and interest in our work?
- Who is at the table and who has been left out of decisions and opportunities?

Every day of the conference offers what we like to think is a healthy mix of active learning, free time, and fun. We have intentionally left the schedule light in the late afternoons on both Wednesday and Thursday to make sure that you have time both to decompress and to explore. Downtown Wenatchee is home to a high concentration of unique local businesses, and the riverfront is just a quick walk away.

The board and staff at the Washington Trust for Historic Preservation extend our deepest appreciation to the sponsors, partners, and volunteers who make RevitalizeWA possible. At the top of our list is the Wenatchee Downtown Association and their local partners. The energy in downtown Wenatchee is palpable, and we’re grateful for the opportunity to host this place-based learning event in this shining star of a city.

Thank you for joining us for this tremendous celebration of historic preservation and community vitality, and welcome to RevitalizeWA 2022!

A1. MAIN STREET 101: THE APPROACH & HOW TO WORK IT
Pybus Public Market Events Center | 3 North Worthen Street

The Main Street Approach has been used in thousands of towns—large and small—across the nation in its 40+ year history. The Approach is simple and flexible...and it works. This session will share a brief history of the Main Street movement and its guiding principles; explain the foundational Four Points of Economic Vitality, Design, Outreach, and Promotion; and walk you through organizational best practices to leverage the Approach and your local community's downtown assets. Whether your passion is preservation, small business development, community organizing, or anything in between, we encourage you to join us to learn more about how the Main Street Approach can bring neighbors together to foster more vital and resilient downtown districts.

Breanne Durham, Washington Trust for Historic Preservation
Lydia Felty, Washington Trust for Historic Preservation
Jonelle McCoy, Washington Trust for Historic Preservation

A2. PRESERVATION 101: PRESERVATION FOR PEOPLE
Liberty Cinema | 1 South Mission Street

No, it is not your imagination. Even preservationists know that historic preservation can be confusing and seem overly complicated or fussy to most people! This session will bring preservation down to scale. We will work to demystify what it actually is and try to dispel some of the more negative connotations associated with the field. We will focus on how to talk to property and business owners about preservation, and its many incentives, in everyday terms that people can actually understand.

A3. ASSESSMENT DISTRICTS 101: WHAT, WHY, AND HOW

Liberty Cinema Annex | 1 South Mission Street

Washington State law allows for both property and business assessment districts, which can be a mighty resource for Main Street organizations. In this session, you will hear from Main Street managers and consultants about the process to form a Business Improvement District/Area, potential purposes, and how they are managed. Learn about successes, potential pitfalls, and the dynamics of using this funding source as a Main Street organization.

BDS Planning will provide an overview of assessment districts, followed by a moderated discussion with several Main Street managers.

LUNCH & LEARN: EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR ROUND TABLE

Pybus Public Market Events Center | 3 North Worthen Street

Grab lunch in the Pybus Public Market and bring it back to the Special Events Room for a fun working lunch with fellow Main Street executive directors from around the state. Whether you’re brand new or a seasoned director, everyone has a question to ask or a story to share. Doors open at 12:00 pm with facilitated conversation running from 12:30-1:15 pm. Discussion will be hosted by Nancy Bacon, Nancy Bacon Consulting LLC.
B1. A NEW WAY TO PAY FOR PRESERVATION: C-PACER FINANCING
Pybus Public Market Board Room | 3 North Worthen Street

Did you know that Washington State is the latest of many states to adopt C-PACER financing as a means to support improvements to existing buildings, including historic structures? C-PACER allows property owners to access financing for qualifying seismic retrofits, energy efficiency, renewable energy, water conservation, and resiliency improvements for their buildings. As enabling legislation (2021), it still requires local adoption at the county level. To date, only a handful of counties have implemented programs allowing building owners to utilize C-PACER financing. For owners of historic buildings looking for ways to make improvements in energy efficiency and resiliency (seismic!), C-PACER financing may be the tool to get you over the hump. The Washington Trust for Historic Preservation will be holding a workshop on C-PACER financing to help familiarize people with this tool and consider ways to advocate for local adoption in your respective communities.

B2. MAIN STREET AND CLG: NATURAL ALLIES
Liberty Cinema | 1 South Mission Street

Many of Washington’s Main Street Communities and Affiliates are home to municipalities that also have a Certified Local Government Program or CLG. In many ways, Main Street and CLGs share common goals and are natural allies. To help clarify why this is, this session will give Main Street an overview of the CLG Program, what it is, why it exists, and how it works. We will focus specifically on the ways Main Streets and CLGs might work together toward mutual and community-wide benefit.

Michelle Thompson, Dept. of Archaeology & Historic Preservation

B3. LEADING THROUGH CHANGE
Liberty Cinema Annex | 1 South Mission Street

Main Street organizations have worked hard to serve communities through the pandemic. You have operated through shutdowns, health mandates, economic uncertainty, and racial reckonings. Yet it is hard to sustain this level of work over time, particularly when you are being asked to do more with the same level of resources.

In this interactive session, we will create space for you to explore two levels of change. First, we will look at organizational change and how we define the work in 2022. We’ll talk about how leaders can center purpose to increase impact without adding resources. You'll have a chance to connect with colleagues on how to manage change over time.

For a situation to change, however, people must start acting differently. How do you create the circumstances in which behavior change can happen? We will explore the research behind how people change and what you can do to remove barriers to change within yourself, your organization, or your community.

FS1. THE PYBUS STORY: BUILDING COMMUNITY THROUGH A PUBLIC MARKET
Meet at Pybus Public Market Events Center | 3 North Worthen Street

In 2010, private philanthropists came together with the Port of Chelan and the federal government to renovate an aging steel warehouse near the Columbia River. Today, Pybus Public Market is a bustling community center, home to numerous independent merchants, an educational demo kitchen, event spaces, and a local farmers market. Through a panel discussion and small-group tours of the market, we’ll explore the story of Pybus and discuss lessons learned. Participants will then have a chance to purchase lunch from one of Pybus’ many vendors before reconvening for roundtable discussions about how we can activate the concept of a public market to create community in our own towns and cities.

C1. LEVERAGING NONPROFITS TO BUILD SUSTAINABLE COMMUNITIES
Pybus Public Market Board Room | 3 North Worthen Street

The nonprofit sector is a critical part of any local economy and plays an integral role in building sustainable communities. In this session, we will do a deep dive into the nonprofit sector and how the work of these organizations can be further leveraged to sustain Main Streets and local communities throughout Washington. Nonprofit organizations hold a wealth of knowledge as they are working hard to address a variety of needs that exist within their community. They understand the gaps in resources and challenges that limit solutions within their specific industry and area of focus. We will discover how you can utilize this knowledge to build collaborative solutions and partnerships among varying sectors that will benefit the community at large and create a path to sustainability.

LET'S BUILD WEALTH WITH JAEBADIAH GARDNER

Whether we are discussing preservation or new developments in real estate, a key factor in this work is ownership and access to ownership. Jaebadiah S. Gardner is an African-American, Mexican-American businessman, multi-family real estate developer, author, and founder and CEO of GardnerGlobal, Inc., a privately held holding company focused on building wealth through investments, partnerships, and community. In this keynote address, Gardner will explore examples of community ownership models and attempt to rewire our thinking around creating accessible, sustainable real estate projects that provide opportunities for individuals from their communities to participate in building wealth.

D2. EQUITY IN PRESERVATION

Liberty Cinema | 1 South Mission Street

Preservation is on the cusp of experiencing a transformation. There have been abundant calls for better equity, inclusion, and representation throughout the country. Many initiatives and calls to action have originated from right here in Washington State, and conversations have been taking place at every scale from one-on-one coffee talks to national efforts led by passionate leaders who seek to evolve. Preservation must maintain relevancy as a philosophy that is foundational to enhancing local economies, sense of place, soul, and identity. And we must take action to ensure we are telling the full story of our collective history and to make preservation work.

Please join us for this engaging panel discussion. Be part of the conversation and action to transform preservation for the present and the future so we can all best serve our respective communities.

D3. PIONEER SQUARE: PUBLIC SPACE, PANDEMICS, AND PRESERVATION

Liberty Cinema Annex | 1 South Mission Street

The land of Seattle's Pioneer Square has reinvented itself countless times. From the Coast Salish village Djijila’letc to a gold rush boomtown to the city's first historic district, it is a place deeply layered with multiple histories. Those changes continue apace as the city's conversion of Alaskan Way to a waterfront promenade; the COVID pandemic; new transit, streetscape, and open space investments; and an important community-wide conversation about racial and socioeconomic justice issues have reinvigorated the district's business, social service, preservation, and residential communities' commitment to place. Learn how Pioneer Square's public realm is evolving and adapting to meet these opportunities by reflecting a more inclusive history, working in partnership with city and county agencies and nonprofit organizations, and positioning the historic district for the next century of change.

E2. GETTING STARTED WITH LGBTQ HISTORIC PRESERVATION

Liberty Cinema | 1 South Mission Street

Preserving the LGBTQ past is an essential part of creating a full picture of a community’s history, but it can be difficult to know where to start with these efforts. This panel will approach LGBTQ historic preservation from a range of perspectives, to give audience members a better sense of the options available. Port Townsend-based public history consultant Susan Ferentinos will discuss resources and issues to be aware of when working in formal preservation avenues. Manish Chalana, associate professor of urban design and planning at University of Washington, will discuss issues facing LGBTQ enclaves and reflect on his work creating a conservation district for Seattle’s Pine-Pike neighborhood. Finally, Kolby LaBree, owner of Bellinghistory Tours with the Good Time Girls in Bellingham, will situate LGBTQ history within wider efforts to bring heritage tourism and a sense of place to smaller cities and towns.

E3. LET’S SAY YES TO MORE HOUSING IN THE HISTORIC CORES OF OUR COMMUNITIES

Let’s get ready to say yes to more housing.

Liberty Cinema Annex | 1 South Mission Street

Our older core areas include examples of the housing referred to as the “missing middle” and provide models for how additional housing can be added to those areas and historic residential areas. This session prompts attendees to look for this housing in their communities and expand their notions of what can be compatible in new construction. It will also explain some of the housing terms being used, touch on why we have a housing shortage, and note some of the common strands of the conversations about housing and historic places. This session promotes the notion that: Let’s get ready to say yes to more housing.

Betsy Bradley, National Association of Preservation Commissions

E4. YOUR COMMUNITY AS INVESTORS

Wenatchee CC, Grand Apple North | 121 North Wenatchee Avenue

Keynote speaker Jaebadiah Gardner dives into the tactical aspects of building community wealth through sourcing local investors. Calling upon his experience as CEO of GardnerGlobal, Inc., Gardner will share details from lease-to-purchase models, the formation of real estate funds, and keys to opening doors for non-accredited investors. Learn about who needs to be at the table (hint: a lawyer, a fund manager, and a broker walk into a bar) in order to work creatively within the existing real estate system. F1. INCLUSIVE ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT IN RECOVERY—IT MATTERS!
_Pybus Public Market Events Center | 3 North Worthen Street_

Most of us, in some form, are looking at recovery and funding opportunities to build sustainable programs. How do we tell our story of inclusion and equitable development? Data! F3. OPTIONS AND IDEAS FOR YOUR OCCUPIED HISTORIC RENOVATION
_Liberty Cinema Annex | 1 South Mission Street_

When faced with the challenge of renovating a historic, and sometimes occupied, building, what do you do? Do you renovate the building full of commercial tenants or residents, or do you move... them out? You may not be able to move tenants or residents if there is no place (or budget!) to temporarily relocate them or if rental income is necessary to fund the project.

What are some other options? Can you phase the work one floor at time? Can you phase the work one space at time? For example: can you close a portion of the shipping and receiving department, build out a new space, and return to the renovated space when it’s complete, all the while keeping the factory running?

G1. BACKING SMALL: EQUITABLE SYSTEMS FOR LOCAL BUSINESSES

Pybus Public Market Events Center | 3 North Worthen Street

Backing Small North Central Washington (NCW) takes a grassroots approach to building capacity and eliminating barriers to equitable economic opportunity with a vision for thriving downtowns and vibrant Main Streets in small, rural communities.

Through our Backing Small NCW Program, we have shifted towards mutually beneficial collaborations across our private/public and nonprivate sectors with a mission to build equitable systems for local businesses and communities that create a vibrant, inclusive, and sustainable economy by strengthening, supporting, and celebrating entrepreneurship, rural community development, racial equity, and food access.

This approach will allow us to work within the communities to identify a tailor-made strategy designed to be resilient to changing circumstances, intentionally inclusive about who is at the decision-making table and who benefits from the development, while setting communities on a course to create broadly based shared economic prosperity.

G2. WENATCHEI WEAR: DESIGN WITH PURPOSE

Pybus Public Market Board Room | 3 North Worthen Street

Wenatchi Wear is a local small business featuring local Indigenous authentic threads designed with a purpose, creating awareness and empowering Indigenous Peoples. We are passionate about preserving Native American history and culture in North Central Washington and are able to accomplish this through a contemporary creative process, while reaching a broader range of people through wearable art.

Mary Big Bull-Lewis, Wenatchi Wear

G3. PLACEMAKING & NATURAL SYSTEMS

Wenatchee CC, Grand Apple North | 121 North Wenatchee Avenue

The session will explore case studies for storytelling that focus on natural systems, cultural identity, and human ecology impacts based on the built environment and land use over time. Site Story will review a number of recent projects from parks to farmers markets, alongside interpretive education that celebrates growing vibrant communities and placemaking that links environmental and cultural sustainability. The work is based on the philosophy of human ecology, a fundamental belief that human beings are part of nature rather than separate from nature.

The team will review the power of engagement and storytelling to help communities understand their current narrative and envision the story they'd like to shape. The heart of each of their projects begins with a story which is used to create plans and foster ideas necessary to realize a new vision.

FS4. BIKING THE APPLE CAPITAL LOOP TRAIL
Arberg Sports | 25 North Wenatchee Avenue

Get moving and learn more about fostering year-round recreational viability with an afternoon bike tour of the Apple Capital Loop Trail! Opened in 1994 along the shoreline of the Columbia River, this 11-mile loop has become a major transportation corridor for commuters as well as a recreational destination for cyclists, walkers, joggers, skaters, snowshoers, and cross-country skiers. We’ll bike the mostly flat 11-mile loop at an easy pace, with stops along the way to discuss the development of the trail and the challenges of fostering recreation options in our own communities. Cost of the tour includes bike and helmet rental from local outfitter Arberg Sports.

FS5. ADAPTIVE REUSE OF WENATCHEE’S FRUIT-PROCESSING DISTRICT
Cascadian Fruit Shippers Building | 212 South Worthen Street

The streets and buildings in and around Columbia Street and the waterfront near downtown Wenatchee once housed a thriving fruit-processing district. The area, which grew up around the main railroad line, suffered a steady decline in economic activity as the fruit industry shifted to truck freight and sought closer proximity to regional highways. Reuse of the buildings of the district represents a significant opportunity to attract businesses and residents to the city and region and to create a new vibrant, walkable neighborhood. Join the Chelan Douglas Regional Port Authority and Graham Baba Architects as we discuss some early success stories and several in-progress reuse efforts. We’ll share lessons learned that can be applied in thinking about similar warehouse districts around the state.

FS6 / FS7. DOWNTOWN BREWERY & CIDER WALK | DOWNTOWN WINE WALK
Wenatchee Valley Chamber of Commerce | 137 North Wenatchee Avenue

Beer, cider, and wine businesses are increasingly important members of downtown communities throughout Washington. How can we best connect the dots with these brewers and winemakers in our downtowns? In this interactive field session, we’ll discuss what has worked and what hasn’t in Wenatchee, exploring developments like Brewers Row, the Chamber of Commerce Tasting Room, and numerous downtown wine tasting rooms—and how these all tie in with existing businesses, restaurants, and bars. After a group discussion at the Chamber of Commerce Tasting Room, we’ll split into groups to visit some of Wenatchee’s beer and wine businesses, sampling craft brews and local wines while hearing from the business owners, brew masters, and tasting room staff. Registration cost includes a souvenir glass and tastings.

Pybus Public Market Events Center | 3 North Worthen Street

Washington’s Small Business Development Center (SBDC) recently conducted an extensive needs assessment of nearly 1,200 small businesses across the state. The results identify top concerns, such as planning for retirement and protecting against cyber-attacks. In this session, you’ll hear more about what small business owners are saying they need from organizations like yours, as well as specific guidance on how to support each key need identified. Consider this to be your marching orders for how to support small businesses in your community over the next year, as well as ideas for how to partner with your local SBDC and other economic development organizations.

H2. TAKING OWNERSHIP (LITERALLY) OF YOUR DOWNTOWN

Liberty Cinema | 1 South Mission Street

In rural eastern Washington, a newly designated Main Street Community, LaCrosse Community Pride, has adopted a unique model of property ownership that has been critical in keeping affordable housing and vital services available to the community. LaCrosse (population 310) is located on the western edge of Whitman County, flanked by rolling hills of wheat and the channeled scablands carved out by Ice Age floods. Come learn how they’ve made this model work and how they survived through COVID!

Sarah Kane, LaCrosse Community Pride Executive Director

H3. SO YOU’VE REVITALIZED. NOW WHAT?
Liberty Cinema Annex | 1 South Mission Street

After almost 40 years of revitalization work, downtown Walla Walla is, well, vitalized. Does this mean our work is done? Not in the slightest. In this session, Main Street staff will share what comes next after the first phase of revitalization work is done. Topics covered will include maintenance of the work that has been done, partnerships that prepare us for success, and a vision of what the next 10 years look like.

Kathryn Witherington, Downtown Walla Walla Foundation

H4. CATALYZING SOCIAL CHANGE THROUGH REAL ESTATE
Wenatchee CC, Grand Apple North | 121 North Wenatchee Avenue

Two case studies—one from Wenatchee, the other from Spokane—provide inspiration and blueprints for mission-driven, community-based adaptive reuse. Spokane’s Community Building launched in 2000 with a vision of hosting and catalyzing social change. Twenty years later, this six-building, social purpose real estate endeavor has evolved into an interdisciplinary ecosystem and genuine neighborhood. Recently, Wenatchee entrepreneurs created a coworking, meeting, and events space, bringing people out of their homes and into downtown. Hear this team’s approach to a multi-phase adaptive reuse project preserving contributing architecture, reimagining removed and altered components, upgrading critical building systems, and partnering with the local Public Utility District on energy efficiency.

BUILDING AN ENTREPRENEURSHIP ECOSYSTEM TOGETHER

There’s a lot of talk these days about the importance of developing an “entrepreneurial ecosystem”—an environment in which community members can successfully realize their dreams of business ownership—which is surely a daunting prospect when approached by just one individual or even just one organization. But what luck! Downtown Wenatchee is an entrepreneurial ecosystem, and a robust one at that! Longstanding partnerships between economic development organizations and entrepreneurs have created a strong ethic and an infrastructure that continues to benefit start-ups and the overall downtown business community. Walk away from this panel conversation with a recognition of how you can be a driver of your local ecosystem and, just as importantly, how partnerships can help lighten the load and make the work more impactful and fun!

Since 1984, the Washington State Main Street Program has been helping communities revitalize the economy and image of their downtown commercial districts using the Main Street Approach®, a comprehensive revitalization strategy built around a community's unique heritage and attributes. The program helps communities stimulate long-term economic growth and pride in the heart of the community: downtown.

In 2010, the program moved from the Department of Commerce to the Department of Archaeology & Historic Preservation. The program is managed by the Washington Trust for Historic Preservation.

Protect the past, shape the future.

The Department of Archaeology & Historic Preservation (DAHP) is Washington State's primary agency with knowledge and expertise in historic preservation. DAHP advocates for the preservation of Washington's irreplaceable cultural resources (historic and archaeological) which include significant structures, sites, objects, and districts. Through education and information, we provide leadership for the protection of our shared heritage. Preserving these physical reminders of our past creates a sense of place, resulting in an environment that instills civic pride and community spirit.
